Dear Sir Krishnan:

Thank you for your note of October 7 which I find here on my return from Europe. While in Paris for a few days early in November, I heard rumors of your being there. I tried to find out if this was true and to reach you through the mineralogists at the Sorbonne but without success. However, it seems likely from the dating on your note that I did not in fact miss seeing you.

On landing a couple of days ago I spoke by telephone with our friend Nikhilananda, who tells me that he is leaving in a couple of weeks for a few months in India. Perhaps you will see him there.

With kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
