Dear professor,

I have been asked by the Editor, 'Samyukta Karnataka', a leading Kannada daily run under the trusteeship of Sri R.R. Diwakar to interview your good self and to provide them with a feature thereon. I have accepted that with pleasure presuming that you would be kind enough to give me an audience by sparing a few moments of your valuable time.

I may here add for your kind information that I am a free-lance journalist in Kannada and a biographer of Alfred Nobel and Sir Alexander Fleming. It may be inept to state my proclivity as it is evident from my publications.

I shall therefore deem it a great personal favour if you could kindly permit me to be under your august presence for a few minutes to carry your great personage and message to the Kannada readers.

As my stay here might not exceed a fortnight I crave your permission to arrange kindly for the audience at your earliest possible Convenience either at your residence or at the laboratory.

Thanking you.

Yours Sincerely,
W. Subramaniam
