Dear Dr. Krishnan:

Your visit to our house last Sunday was really a pleasant surprise, especially because of urgent laboratory work I had missed the chance of meeting you a week earlier when you visited the dept. of physics of our University. As a matter of fact after many months we had taken that Sunday off and had such a nice trip which otherwise might not have been possible as, since we have come to the States, we have acquired the habit of sticking to our work even on Sundays.

Dr. Singh was telling me that you had the intention of coming to this Country again for a longer period and of course I hope then to have longer discussions with you. Please remember me to your daughter.

In closing may I request you to write a note to the Indian Ambassador in Washington or say a word to the Indian Consul General in New York to give me some job during these three months vacations.

The vacations commence from the 1st of June. and if you do not contact these people from New York they might fill in their vacancies. and no job might be left for me. May I therefore request you to be so kind as to do me this great favour. I am sorry to give you so much trouble specially as you are so busy here and have so little time to spare.

Wishing you "bon Voyage" and an enjoyable stay in London.

yours sincerely
Shakuntala
