

not able to make out the absence of the acknowledgement of my letter giving the theory in that sketch note. I personally would have been quite satisfied with the acknowledgement only.
I am not finding any justification of constantly writing letters any more till I receive a reply.

With regrets and apologies.

Respected sir,

I had sent you a letter in the first week of May and had received a very discouraging letter dated 12.5.57. I sent a sketch note giving my theory. I sent three letters after that. I only wanted to know if you got that sketch note and could form an opinion of the work.

When ever I sit down to write to you I feel guilty of encroaching on your precious time.

In the absence of any reply from you I am beginning to think that the reply is a negative one, but you being so kind and modest do not want to write that to me. However I am
