Director of National ^{Scientific} Research
Laboratory,
Delhi.

Dear Sir,

We are ever bounden to you for your munificence and filial love for our Alma Mater. I own with pride that your gift of Rs 50/- was indeed God's gift. It was of inestimable help at a time when we were much handicapped by a succession of events, the S.S.H.C examination, the Government Audit and the Inspection of our School, and could not stir out for local donations.

I hope you would have come by our school magazine despatched to you about a week ago. It was our maiden attempt. Besides, the idea of the publication of one ~~starter~~ struck us a little late, so there may be sprinkling of mistakes and errors here and there in our fresh attempt. May I request to forgive our faults and shortcomings. I would urge my plea that the gibberings of the Child should blow into oratory by virtue of experience and wisdom in course to be gained in course of time.

We would be much pleased if you help us with your sweet message for our second attempt to be made for this school-year shortly.

I would like to add that we have opened two additional courses, Secretarials and Agriculture. We are greatly indebted to Sri. V. Sundaraja Naidu, the Director of Public Instruction, Travancore-Cochin State. The Director of Public Instruction, Madras, is also interested in our institution. Our Correspondent Sri. R. S. Krishnabwami Naidu of Varadavallur, evinces a very deep interest in our institution and it is avowedly his primary care to elevate it to greater heights. He desires me to convey his best regards to your revered self. We would feel much grateful to you for ~~the~~ a short note on your biography - main points - that, we hope, must perforce adorn and enrich our magazine.

Ever with my love and respects to all your family,

yours affectionately,

T. Arinivasan Chari

P.S.

I requested my brother at Sankarankoil, Deputy Commercial Tax Officer, (his name T. A. Thiruvallai) to send you a copy of our magazine. I hope you would have got it also.
