

Kalki

(Bharathan Publications Private Limited, Proprietors of the Kalki & Swarajya)
Member: Indian & Eastern Newspaper Society : The Audit Bureau of Circulations Ltd.

Mg. Director & Editor
T. SADASIVAM

KILPAUK : MADRAS-10
Grams: KALKI Phone: 61034 (4 Lines)

23rd August 1960

My dear Dr. Krishnan,

I hasten to write this letter in order to entrust Sri Narayanaswami whom we all affectionately call 'Nanu' to your care.

I believe you know that Nanu is the Nephew of my late lamented friend and colleague Sri R. Krishnamurthi (Kalki). Nanu was working in my office and he was doing very well. In a weak moment he yielded to a temptation to find better prospects elsewhere and after a little struggle joined the Hindu and continued to struggle there. Luckily he was later absorbed in the circulation department of the Eastern Economist and from there he found his way in the Information and Broadcasting department where he is now doing very well.

Nanu is one in a thousand, I would rather say one in a ten thousand. It will be very difficult to come across many more of his type these days when young men have started practicing the art of shirking work. This quality is not in the blood of Nanu. When he takes up a work he gives it his heart and soul and every ounce of his physical and mental energy. I am sure the departmental head where Nanu is now working will have nothing but praise for his work.

I now understand that a new cadre is being introduced in the Information and Broadcasting Ministry in which only degree holders will have a place. In the absence of a degree, experience and talent will also be taken into consideration, I am told. If that is done and done justly I have no doubt that Nanu would be one among the selected but anything happen these days. I am anxious that nothing should happen to injure Nanu and his career. Perhaps Sri R.K. Ramadhyani the Secretary can alone prevent any harm being done to Nanu. If such a situation arises you must speak to Sri Ramadhyani and see that all is well with Narayanaswami whose devotion to duty, high character and excellent conduct I can unhesitatingly vouch to. I should be more than grateful to you for a line in reply that you will look after Nanu. Kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,

T. Sadasivam

Dr. K.S. Krishnan
3, Kushak Road
New Delhi