Dear Professor Knehrman.

My wife and I were pleased to receive your letter telling of us that you will be arriving in London on or about March 9th.

We are very glad to learn that you will be able to stay with us during your stay in London.

One of us will probably be able to meet you in London if you will let us know the time and place of your arrival.

For the guidance of our housekeeper could you give us an indication in your next letter, of the foods you may and may not eat. We will do our best to conform to all your customs in this matter.

Yours sincerely
Thomas Linsdale.
