B. S. MADHAVA RAO, ESQ. M.Sc.

ASST. PROFESSOR OF MATHEMATICS

CENTRAL COLLEGE, BANGALORE

DEAR SIR,

WE, the Students of the Engineering College, beg to approach you with this heart-felt Address as a token of our esteem and goodwill towards you. Sir, we rejoice indeed that you are going to a position where your energy and abilities will have fuller scope even while we regret to lose you from amongst us.

On occasions like this, when naturally our hearts are full we feel that to be simple and brief is best. Sir, we shall only say that during your stay here, you have endeared yourself to us all by your never-failing kindness and consideration as well as by your constant cheerfulness, good fellowship and sympathy, qualities that will win you name and fame wherever you go.

While we greatly appreciate your powers of clear exposition and mathematical talents, we beg to say that we respect you all the more for your generous instincts and uniform goodness towards Students. Though you will be no longer with us, we are sure that neither you nor we will soon forget the pleasing memories which always existed between us. These things will be treasured memories to us all.

We wish you, Sir, all goodness, health, happiness and prosperity.

We remain,

Dear Sir,

Your Affectionate Students of the
ENGINEERING COLLEGE.
