Dear Sri. Pandurang Hegde, Please excuse me for troubling you. I am a farmer having cultivation lands about 18 Kilometers South of Mangalore city. I got your address from the annual report (1985) of Friends Rural centre, Rasulia. I am very interested in the type of farming that they are trying out in that centre. As you are one of the persons doing work in conditions most similar to my area I want to develope contacts with you so that I may gain some ideas of the type of work.

I have stopped applying fertilisers and pesticides since nine years on my farm. But I have not yet been able to develope a proper system. When I read about "Rishi kluti" & the people at Rasulia I became anxious to understand it.

I wish to take up Rice farming on similar lines. Have you any idea? Are you farming? Are there others who are trying out these methods? Have you come accross any good variety of seeds adaptable for this —

- type of cultivation?

I will be highly obliged if you will write to me about your work and experience. We may try to be of mutual help.

Hoping to hear from you soon.

Thanking you:

yours sincerely
