Dear Dr. Siddhartha:

Your father, Mr. Venkatasubbiah, told me when he visited me last week of your interest in matters of scientific organization and science policy. He told me that you are a regular reader of Minerva. Your father also told me that you were interested in doing scholarly work on this subject, and as I recall, he also said that you had been writing about it. May I ask whether you can send me any of your publications in this field and whether if you have any unpublished manuscript, you would let me consider it for publication in Minerva? Since you are well acquainted with Minerva I need not explain what I have in mind regarding the level and style of the articles I publish there.

If you have nothing which you could send me at present, are there some aspects of Indian science policy which you would like to write about and on which you could write an article appropriate for publication in Minerva?

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Edward Shils
