Dear Mr. Pittie,

Many thanks for your letter dated 9-11-98, and, specially, for the bibliographic index of papers concerning Goa. Two of them were actually new to me.

Here I got a few more to occupy space on your computer hard-disc:

- > - Hume, A.O. (1876) The Laccadives and the West Coast. Stray Feathers 4: 413-83 (Observations on the Goa coast on pp.420-21)
- > - Davidson, J. (1898) The Birds of North Kanara. JBNHS 11, 12 (Many references to Goa and its border areas)
- > - Satheesan, S.M. (1988) Bird-aircraft collision at an altitude of 2424m over the sea. JBNHS 87:145-6 (About the hit of a European Roller off Goa)
- > Lainer, H. (1988) On the status of the Sandwich Tern on India's West Coast. JBNHS 87: 298-9

Yours sincerely

Heinz Lainer

Dear Mr Lainer,

I hope all is well at your end. It's been a long time since you sent some notes for BSAP's Pitta. I hope you will send us some material in the near future!

I am enclosing something from the Internet, which might interest you. It's about a mysterious stonechat from Goa!

With best wishes and regards,

Yours sincerely,
