

August 29, 1980

My dear Dr. Sambrani,

I thank you very much for your kind letter dated 23rd August, 1980. Unfortunately I do not have copies of the Sardar Patel Memorial Lectures of 1973. A few copies I had got exhausted several years ago. This lecture has, however, been translated and printed in Gujarathi by the Gujarat Agricultural University and Hindi by the Gandhi Smarak Nidhi. You are welcome to reprint the lectures, if you so desire. However, I was recently informed by Prof. S.K. Sinha, Professor of Eminence, Water Technology Centre, IARI, New Delhi, that a group of scientific associations will be bringing out shortly a collection of some of my lectures including the Sardar Patel Memorial Lectures. I am, therefore, requesting Prof. Sinha to inform you whether copies can be made available to you, so that you need not again reprint the lectures. You may also like to write to Prof. Sinha directly about the number of copies you will require.

With my best regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Dr. Swaminathan:

I write this letter to seek your formal permission to use your Sardar Patel Memorial Lecture of 1973 on Our Agriculture Future for distribution to students at the Institute. My colleagues and I find that this will be an excellent introduction to the agricultural production system for the students.

I am not quite sure that copies of this lecture are readily available. In case they are not, may we reproduce the lecture at the Institute and distribute it ?

With kind regards,

Sincerely,

Shreekant Sambrani
