Respected Sir,

We are sorry to learn that you were not well some time back. We believe you have now completely recovered, by God's grace.

I, as a student of this University had the unique pleasure of hearing you last year, on your inaugural address of the B.H.U. Union, when you most exquisitely described the evil of the present-day specialisation in science, with an excellent analogy from the Upanishad.

We, Tamilians here, are extremely desirous to offer you a warm welcome, and to have an opportunity to hear you, under the auspices of the Sangham. We are of the unanimous opinion that there will be no greater honour done to us and to the Tamil Sangham, than by your kind and valuable address.

We also learn that there may be occasions for you to come over this University shortly, in some connexion. We would very much like to know whether in such an event, it is possible for you to snatch a little time to spend with us here, if other situations permit.

For some reason or ~~the~~ other, the Sangham was started functioning only recently, and we would be happy to have you amidst us to inaugurate the Sangham for this year. We request you to kindly advise us in this matter, after which we can fix a suitable date.
