Dear Krishnan,

I do not know how to express to you my appreciation of your great kindness to me during my very prolonged stay at Calcutta, and your generous hospitality at a time when you were yourself in mourning made me feel almost ashamed of myself. You have been good, very good to me. Words fail me to express my thanks to you. I shall treasure this association with you as one of the best in my life.

I had Visram x-rayed and Dr. Pandalan has been having him under examination these three days. He may give me his final opinion to-morrow. I can only hope that the 'Doc'

may be able to give his own relief from his pain and restore him to normal health. Would you be so kind as to convey to Dr. Sundar Rao and Dr. K. V. Krishnan my very deepest appreciation of their kind help at Calcutta.

I hope to be with you by Monday morning and shall expect to leave for Dacca the same night. My respects to your mother, and best wishes to the children.

Yours all,
S. V. Azgar
