Dear Professor Krishnan,

I came to India for my summer holidays as usual this year, and the outbreak of war has delayed me from going back. I have often thought of writing to you, but have put it off for a better moment, and so some months have passed. I have deferred my return to Europe till the Spring, and hope to meet you before then. I have been asked to give a course of 25 lectures at the Institute of Science, Bangalore, during January and February, but if I can get to the Science Congress at Madras before beginning my lectures, it might be an opportunity of seeing you. I should be very grateful if you would kindly ~~to~~ give me some indication of your movements and of the programme of the physics section.

With the greetings of the season, and hoping to see you soon,

Yours sincerely

H. J. Shuttle
