My dear Aasheesh,

I am doing a book on India's Wildlife and its Conservation. It includes changes that I have witnessed over the last 30 yrs and descriptions of my visits to over 60 Wildlife Sanctuaries and National Parks.

I have started writing a chapter on the history of Conservation and the people who have made this happen. This chapter cannot be complete without writing stories from people like you who have devoted their lives to this cause.

May I request you to write accounts of important events about people you met and the more important Conservation gains that you have been party to over the last couple of decades. This would be of great help in putting this chapter together.

With much Affection,

Erach Bharucha
